VERY INCONSISTENT.

The Carson Tribune has entered upon a new volume. It is a good paper, barring its goldbug heresies, and it has been run under one management during the twenty-one years of its existence.—JOURNAL.

Because the Tribune does not forsake the Republican party and stand in with the Silver, hybrid organization it is termed "goldbug." The Tribune is as heartily in favor of free coinage as the JOURNAL, and believes that it and kindred reforms can only be obtained through the Republican party.—Carson Tribune.

As the Tribune is 21 years old it ought to know from experience that newspapers as well as individuals are not always what they profess to be. "Slim Jim," the celebrated three-card monte man, professed to be an innocent miner or stockman with more money than sense, when he wanted to allure the unwary, who discovered too late that he was a thief. A newspaper may profess to be "heartily in favor of free coinage," but when it advocates the success of a party that has repeatedly proved by its acts to be opposed to free coinage the logical inference is that it is hypocritic or idiotic. The Tribune has the undisputed right to believe what it pleases, but it should not object to being called a goldbug paper while it supports an avowedly goldbug party. It would be no more inconsistent for a paper to profess to be in favor of protection while advocating the success of the Democratic party than it is for the Tribune to profess that it is in favor of free coinage while it upholds Republicanism.

WALL STREET TRIUMPHANT.

Wall Street is exulting. The money kings have achieved another victory. Secretary Carlisle has issued a circular inviting proposals for $50,000,000 five-per-cent bonds redeemable after two years, and that amount of the $92,000,000 hoarded in the New York banks can be invested in Government securities. In a time of profound peace, with abundant crops and 134,000,000 ounces of bullion lying useless in the Treasury and mints, which should be coining it closed, the interest-bearing debt of the Nation is to be increased $50,000,000.

Who longer doubts that the Government of the United States, under Democratic control, is being run in the interest of the gold trust, as it was during twenty-five years of Republican ascendancy?

Though the Ways and Means Committee report favorably on Bland's bill to coin the Government's profit on the bullion in the Treasury, which amounts to $5,000,000, and issue notes to that amount to cover the present deficiency, the Secretary of the Treasury, who seems to have been hypnotized by the gold trust, exceeds his authority, many believe, in his haste to oblige the goldmen by incurring the national debt.

Issuing bonds will not add one dollar to the amount of money in the country. It simply enables the goldmen to invest the money that they called in during the last six months on better security. The coinage of $50,000,000 in silver or the issuance of an equal amount of government notes would have increased the circulating medium to that extent without expense to the country, and while that is what the people want, it does not suit the goldmen and their will is law at Washington.

THE ASSOCIATE JUSTICE.

There is a vacancy on the United States caused by the death of Justice Blatchford. The President nominated Judge Hornblower of New York to fill this vacancy. The Senate refused to confirm the nomination by a majority of six. Now the question of whom the President will nominate is agitating political circles in Washington. Senator Gray of Delaware is said to hold the key to the situation. If he desires the position and chooses to resign the Senatorship for the Bench it is believed that he can get the nomination. If he gets the appointment it will probably result in the resignation of Ambassador Bayard from the British mission and his re-election to the Senate.

It is said that in no event will the appointment be made in New York. Senator Hill opposed Hornblower's confirmation and the President thinks that in the present temper of the Senate no New Yorker need expect confirmation.

The Senate rejected the nomination of J. Scott Harrison for Surveyor at the port of Kansas City. Harrison is a brother of ex-President Harrison and an avowed Democrat and a great admirer of President Cleveland. Senator Vest protested against his appointment in vain. Vest has more influence in the Senate than in the White House and succeeded in having the nomination rejected.

"How will this country retain the gold realized from the sale of bonds?" asks the Denver News. The Europeans will dump their watered trust and railroad stocks into Wall street and so reobtain their gold. Europe will then have Uncle Sam's bonds as well as the gold, while the American people will have loads of depreciated paper and a vast amount of financial and political experience.

The Denver News says Federal control of railroads has been brought about without the aid of the Populists. Under Republican and Democratic Administrations about 25,000 miles of railroads are controlled by the Government by the appointment of receivers by the Federal Courts.

THE GEARY LAW.

The Photograph Clause May Make Trouble.

WASHINGTON, January 18.—There is reason to believe that Yang Yu, the Chinese envoy in Washington, is not making much progress toward securing a new treaty to take the place of the one considered nullified by the Geary law.

Upon his arrival here it was hoped the United States was about to be offered opportunities for a valuable extension of our trade privileges in China. The expectation of this seems to have been based on inferences drawn from the Chinese Envoy's talk.

His ideas of the immigration question, reflecting accurately, it is supposed, those of his government, were so entirely in accord with those of our people that it was believed the troublesome question would not prove an obstruction to an agreement, but the compulsory photograph clause of the Geary law is the stumbling block.

To compel a Chinaman to be photographed he considers an indignity. It is said to be the belief of the Chinese Envoy that this requirement was inserted with an intent to affront the Chinese residents of this country. He considers his sovereign is affronted in the same degree. This may prove an insurmountable obstacle to the agreement for a treaty from which a week ago much was hoped for the good of our trade privileges in the rich Oriental field of the Chinese Empire.

AN EXPRESS TRAIN ROBBED.

The Train Men Stand in Line With Their Hands Up.

St. Josephs, Mo., January 18.—The Kansas City, St. Josephs and Council Bluffs express was held up by five men north of this city this morning. A torpedo was exploded under the train and a red light swung before it. When the train stopped the engineer and fireman were covered with revolvers and marched back to the express car, part of the gang meantime guarding the rest of the train and firing an occasional shot with a warning to the passengers not to put their heads out of the cars. When the demand was made the express messenger opened the car door, and while one of the robbers covered the engineer, fireman, express messenger and baggeman with a revolver, making them stand in line with their hands up, the others went through the safe. This work completed the trainmen were marched to the middle of the train and the robbers disappeared in the willows beside the track. The train was brought back to this city and the authorities notified. No attempt was made to rob the passengers or mail car. The express messenger says the robbers got nothing to speak of, as there was very little in the way of money or valuables in the safe.

A Delegation of Sugar Planters in Washington.

NEW ORLEANS, January 18.—The gloomy outlook for sugar and the urgent telegram from the Louisiana delegation in Congress is the cause for an influential delegation of sugar planters leaving for Washington last night. They included John Dimond, James P. Kock, James A. Ware, W. B. Krump, H. C. Warrmuth, S. A. Knapp and Emil Rose, all large planters and leaders in the Democratic councils, save Governor Warrmuth, who is a Republican. Dimond, chairman of the committee, said:

"We believe as Louisiana has stood true to the Democratic party for 25 years, it is not now the time for the Democratic party to throw Louisiana overboard and destroy its main industry, which it threatens to do by the pending legislation. We will make that argument on every opportunity." Hornblower's Only Hope.

WASHINGTON, January 18.—The Administration is employing its best influences to secure a reconsideration of the vote rejecting Mr. Hornblower's nomination for the Supreme Court, and it is stated that the principal work is being done on Senator Carey of Wyoming, who was one of those voting to sustain the unfavorable report of the Judiciary Committee.

It is claimed that if he can be induced to reconsider and will vote for confirmation a sufficient number of Senators can be marshalled to pull Mr. Hornblower through by a majority of one.

Smallpox on Board.

VERA CRUZ, Mex., January 18.—The steamship Segurancia is in quarantine off this port with twenty-two cases of smallpox on board. She sailed from New York with a full complement of passengers and is held at Sacrificios Island, ten miles down the coast.

Aiding the Northern Farmers.
PORTLAND, Or., January 18.—In order to afford partial relief to farmers in Eastern Oregon and Washington, the Union Pacific has decided to reduce the rate on wheat, which has been damaged by rain or snow, from points in the Walla Walla and Palouse sections to Portland to $5 per ton and to San Francisco to $5 50. These rates are to go into effect on January 19th.

National Secretary McBryde of the United Mine Workers declared that, encouraged by the success of the big English coal strike, plans are being arranged for a strike in every coal mine in the United States, involving 250,000 bituminous miners. He expects it to take place in two weeks.

A new plan is being considered by the Colorado Senate to force an adjournment. It is for that body to discharge all its employees and then adjourn for one day, all going home and returning, thus leaving that House without any officers to arrest the absentees.

Singapore advices received by the steamer China give an account of the loss of the steamer Normandy in the China Sea December 6th. Among the passengers who escaped were Harold M. Sewall and wife, formerly U. S. Consul General at Samoa. They were married about six months ago in San Francisco and were taking a wedding tour around the world.

A MILLION FRIENDS.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. If you have never used this Great Cough Medicine one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of Throat, Chests and Lungs. Each capsule is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store. Large bottles 50c and $1.

You call it when reading an interesting article and find at its close that you've read an advertisement. Don't condemn the advertiser. You won't read the ordinary advertisement. All advertisers feel this in common with the writer who takes this means of telling you that Simmons' Liver Regulator is the best medicine for malaria, impure blood, and a poisoned system. Equally as good for indigestion and biliousness.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Dr. King's New Life Pills, Buckle's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity largely on their merits. S. J. Hodgkinson, druggist.

Another Wisconsin Diamond.

Recently a young son of Charles Devine, who resides on a farm 2 1/2 miles southwest of the village of Oregon, Dane county, Wis., found a brilliant little stone in a pebbly clay bank and carried it home as a curiosity. The father submitted it to William H. Hobbs, professor of mineralogy and metallurgy in the University of Wisconsin, and he said that it was a genuine diamond. It measures three-eighths of an inch in diameter, weighs four carats, and is a rhombic dodecahedron, with its 12 faces slightly rounded, one of the signs of a good stone. It was in the glacial drift and came of course from the north, where geologists have long insisted conditions exist favorable to diamond discoveries. This specimen is of good color and is worth perhaps $200.

This find recalls the big diamond found at Waukesha in 1884, which sold for $1,000, and about which extensive litigation occurred. Both finds are in the same drift. The Oregon diamond is among the Sugar river pearl fisheries of southern Dane county.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A NEW PARISIAN SOCIAL FAIR.

The latest fair in swell entertainments in Paris is a private variety show. In the salon, next month, of Baroness Morio de Isle, she will give a unique soiree to inaugurate her winter receptions. The great reception saloon will be converted into a music hall. Little marble tables will be placed here and there, and a stage will be erected at one end. Comic songs, skirt dances and other performances will be given by fashionable amateurs. Some of the guests, attired as waiters and waitresses, will wait on the others, and serve them to tea, coffee, beer and other refreshments.

A REPLY TO LABORER.

Dr. Hogan Contends that the Government Cannot Create Value.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—In your issue of January 14, you have a correspondent who signs himself "Laborer" who says:

It is often asserted that money may be made out of paper. If money can be made out of paper, then, for a like reason, money can be made out of pine chips or any other valueless thing. What I wish to ask is, if, by legislation or by law Congress can make a valuable thing out of a valueless thing?

"If money can be made out of paper, it can be made out of pine chips or any other valueless thing."

Here the gentleman's head is eminently level and his deduction would have been perfect, had he added to his "valuable thing" susceptible of receiving, bearing or retaining the impress or seal of the Sovereign. I here tell him that money can be made out of paper and also out of pine chips, but the Government that would use pine chips for its money when it could get paper, would evidence about the same degree of intelligence that he uses when he votes the Democratic or Republican ticket, hoping thereby to free his country from its accrued thralldom to the monopolies. I wish to explain this more fully, because pine chips come in so frequently. Suppose that I want to visit the Courthouse. My horse and buggy are at the door. My best and most expeditious course would be to get the buggy and drive my horses over or the distance is short and the walking good, or I could send up to the ranch, have four horses harnessed to a wagon, have it sent down and go in state, on the hayrack. In any way I could get to the Court house but all these ways are not equally expeditious or feasible, and pine chips are not equally feasible for the purpose of money with paper. Mr. Laborer is evidently a geometer. He states his theorem and draws a correct conclusion but he must just have broken old Euclid's heart when he reduced his corollary, which has no reference whatever to his main theorem. He says "If money can be made out of paper, then it can be made out of pine chips," which I concede, but he evidently does not believe that money can be made out of paper and that, while his reasoning is perfectly correct, and his conclusions properly drawn, he does not believe in the truth of his own demonstration, for if he did he could not have said, "What I wish to ask is, if, by legislation or by law Congress can make a valuable thing out of a valueless thing?" The answer to this question is, no; Congress cannot create value by law or legislation, nor can Congress by law make potatoes. Your mistake, Mr. Laborer, is not in your theorem or its demonstration, but arises entirely from a false assumption of your own. You assume that when Congress did, or should make a piece of paper money, it would give the paper a value, which is not true, nor is it true that money has value, although it is stamped on gold. When you pay ten dollars in gold for a ticket to San Francisco, do you profess to believe that the little piece of cardboard you receive is worth ten dollars, or is it what is on the ticket that makes it worth to you? When you see a piece of paper that cost one cent, on which is written a will that conveys thousands and thousands of dollars to another, is it the paper or what is written on the paper that gives it its value or worth? When your Sovereign places his stamp on a piece of paper and says that every subject in his realm must take this paper in full payment of all debts of one hundred dollars, does he add to the value of the paper the thousandth part of one mill? or does he simply make an arbitrary display of his Sovereign power which he has a perfect right to exercise against each and every individual subject of his realm? Money is not value, but the law of the Sovereign is expressed upon some substance, as gold, silver, paper, etc., and the only purpose that gold, silver or paper serves, is to carry and make his will or law known to his subjects. It differs from his other laws in no respect, except that it is of such importance to his subjects that he prints a comprehensive epitome of his will or law upon it, may be, millions of separate sheets for general distribution, and these sheets may be of gold, silver or paper. Here let me add that the debtor who passes over money to a creditor, executes a process of law higher than can be exercised, in any other manner, by any officer in this State, the Governor himself not excepted. How quickly is the Sheriff disarmed and his power of execution rendered null and void, when the person against whom he holds his process of law, serves upon him Uncle Sam's warrant to stay proceedings or, in other words, gives him money to the full amount of his claim.

My editor tells me all my articles are too long. I suppose they are and with a few words more to Mr. Laborer I will close. You, sir, I believe, thought he had demonstrated to a mathematical certainty the absolute absurdity of my belief on the money question. Had your corollary been a natural deduction from your theorem, I could not have answered you, but it was not, and has no relevancy whatever, and now, sir, still presuming upon the kindness and forbearance of my editor, I will in a few days publish one or two short articles in which I will prove, so conclusively prove that you cannot turn over one corner of it, nor is the man living who can, that money can be made with paper, and for that purpose, in a Republic, is a thousand times better than gold or silver.

WHITE HORSE MINES.

Everything Looks Favorable and This Winter's Work Will Tell the Tale.

The Wadsworth Dispatch has the following relative to the White Horse mines:

The Washoe tunnel is in fifty feet.

Teams cannot reach White Horse city and residents and visitors have to foot it.

The Royal has a good ledge in sight and the owners are now satisfied to wait for Spring.

The work on the Washoe is being pushed night and day and something will happen before long. They expect to cross cut the ledge inside of two weeks.

The east drift on the hundred foot level of the Jim Blaine is now in twenty-five feet and it is expected to cut the ledge at between thirty-five and fifty feet.

Many of the best quartz mines in California were rich at the surface and yielded more than enough from the beginning to pay for the work expended on them, and the White Horse district has now a number of mines that will do this.

Development is slow, but enough will be accomplished at White Horse during the Winter to make or unmake the district. Everything looks favorable now and among the dozen experts who have visited the district not one reported other than favorably and advised continued development. The blustery weather keeps the miners close in their shanties and news is scarce.

THE P. K. G. SOCIAL.

A Pleasant Entertainment at the Pavilion Last Evening.

A good sized audience filled the pavilion last evening to listen to the program of the P. K. G. social. The lady and gentlemen minstrels were excellent and rendered old plantation melodies in a manner to win a generous amount of applause. Among those who sang the solo parts were Miss Mabel Stansaway, Mrs. F. M. Lee, Mrs. Geo. Hymer, Charley Loder Sam Mozingo, and Jerome Higgins.

The well known farce of W. D. Howell's, "The Mouse Trap," was the most creditable amateur effort. The actors sustained their parts in a very natural manner. Miss Daggett was excellent and Miss Collarne gave a fine study of a gentleman's part when taken by a lady. Little Lizette Hoskins played a cornet duet with her father and later danced in a charming manner.

After the close of the program dancing was indulged in until 1 o'clock.

The hall was very cold, which detracted much from the pleasure of all.

FORISTON NOTES.

The Ice Business—A Blinding Snow Storm.

FLORISTON, Cal., Jan. 18, 1894.

The Mountain, People's and Rocky Run Ice Companies are fighting for a second crop. Their ponds have been covered over with ice from six to eight inches thick for several days.

The storm of Wednesday afternoon was by far the most severe of the season.

The wind blew a gale while the snow drifted in clouds until it was impossible to see over a few feet ahead.

The men on the ice ponds were compelled to suspend operations for the time.

Snow is reported three and a half feet deep at Truckee, 30 inches at Boca and is about ten inches at this place.

The storm lasted until about 8 o'clock when it began getting colder. The thermometer ranged from 12 to 15 above zero at 7 o'clock Thursday morning.

Previous to this snow storm rain fell and washed off all the frozen ice and thoroughly saturated the ground while snow fell on the high mountain tops until it must now be several feet in depth.
